EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

What this assessment covers

Simplyhealth has been providing affordable healthcare since 1872 and now covers over 3 million people through health cash plans, dental plans and employee benefits. As one of the UK's largest health plan providers, the opportunity to add an AI member engagement layer is significant — but the member experience currently relies on manual claims processing, phone-based support and a static online portal that has not materially evolved in several years.

GAP ANALYSIS

Three gaps with measurable financial impact

Claims processing is a member friction point

Simplyhealth's health cash plan members submit claims for dental, optical and physiotherapy costs. The claims process involves form submission, manual review and payment — typically taking 5-7 working days. An AI claims triage layer that validates, routes and processes straightforward claims within hours would transform member satisfaction and reduce

Member engagement is passive post-signup

Simplyhealth members receive a welcome pack and a member portal login. No proactive benefit utilisation nudges, no AI health coaching, no annual benefit review reminders and no mental health check-in sequences. The result is low benefit utilisation and high lapse rates particularly among younger members who expect a more active digital experience.

52%

Employee benefits is underdigitised

Simplyhealth's employer-paid health plan business covers hundreds of thousands of employees across UK businesses. HR teams managing these schemes have no live engagement dashboard, no utilisation reporting and no AI tool to communicate benefits to their workforce — leaving scheme value invisible at renewal time.
