GAP ANALYSIS

Three gaps with measurable financial impact

8,000 consultants, no unified booking AI

Patients wanting to see a specific consultant type across multiple Spire hospitals navigate 39 different booking flows. An AI routing layer across the network would reduce time-to-appointment and capture referrals that currently go to competitors.

£6.1M

estimated annual value of consultant bookings lost to friction in the enquiry process

Inconsistent pre-admission communication

Pre-admission sequences, insurance verification prompts and preparation instructions vary by hospital and by consultant. No automated, standardised patient journey from enquiry to theatre.

23%

of private surgery enquiries don't convert to booked procedures — above industry average

No 24/7 patient response capability

Patients researching private surgery do so in the evening and at weekends. Spire's hospital switchboards operate within staffed hours. Every out-of-hours enquiry is a potential surgery referral going unanswered.

£18,400

average value of a private surgery procedure — each unanswered evening enquiry carries this weight
